MAR

an oleagenous substance, called marrow, contained in proper vessels or membranes, like the fat: in the larger bones this fat, by the gentle heat of the body, is exhaled through the pores of its small bladders, and enters some narrow passages, which lead to some fine canals excavated in the substance of the bone, that the marrow may supple the fibres of the bones, and render them less apt to break.

Woud he were watted, marrow, bones, and all
That from his loins no hopeful branch may spring.
